DESIGN MECCA: CHARLESTON

The glamour of antebellum mansions rubs shoulders with the grit of vibrant postindustrial neighborhoods like the Upper Peninsula in South Carolina's largest city. So where does one stay? At the Dewberry Charleston hotel, a Southern-modern redo of a former federal office building designed by Brooklyn's Workstead firm. It's cocktail hour 'round the clock (thedewberrycharleston.com).

GLOBAL CONQUESTS

For more than a century, New York's Hispanic Society of America has been a repository of Spanish art unparalleled outside of Spain itself, a treasure house packed with paintings by Velázquez, El Greco, and Goya, including the latter's haughty Duchess of Alba. The problem? Last year, a paltry 25,000 visitors made it to the society's glorious but faded headquarters on upper Broadway. But that's about to change: Under the helm of Philippe de Montebello, former director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the museum has launched a $15 million renovation that is expected to last until fall 2019. In the meantime, an exhibition of 200 rarely seen masterworks has hit the road, drawing record crowds at Madrid's Prado museum earlier this year. The tour continues in 2018 with stops in Mexico City and Albuquerque (hispanicsociety.org).
